

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

NEGOTIATIONS SATISFACTORY

Premier Hara and Foreign Minister
Uchida Opening Session of Nation's Legislative Body.

Washington.—Negotiations between the Japanese and the United States governments for adjustment of issues arising from anti-alien land legislation by the state of California were viewed as satisfactory and hopeful by Premier Hara and Foreign Minister Uchida in addresses at the re-opening of the Japanese diet.

Uchida, who devoted more attention to the negotiations than did the premier, told the diet that "a frank and free exchange of views has been proceeding on various points involved in the question." He added "that we confidently trust that an adjustment compatible with the honor and interests of both countries had finally been arrived at."

"The historic good relations between Japan and the United States needs no reiteration," Uchida said in taking up what his colleague had termed "the California question." "The relations between the two nations have steadily grown in importance from political, economic, social and various other points of view. It is true that this friendly relationship is not without on occasional mingling of incidents that is almost inevitable in any international relations. But I am firmly of the opinion that fundamentally the relationship between Japan and America is as cordial as ever, and that there are no such insurmountable obstacles as might disturb basic factors which govern that relationship."

Operations of Japanese troops in Siberia were discussed by Viscount Uchida, who, however, made no mention of any immediate intention of his government to withdraw the troops from the Vladivostok area.

The resolution by United States Senator Borah for a "naval holiday," and its favorable reception in the newspapers of Japan, served as the basis of the principal interpellation in the house of representatives. U. Hamanouchi of the opposition party said that he neither was a peace advocate nor an advocate of war between Japan and America, but that the naval expenditures of both nations should be of the same proportions as far as possible.

America, he added, appeared to be planning the greatest navy in the world, but the natural resources of Japan would not permit competition with America. Thus, he declared, there would be a wide gap in the naval strength of the two nations.

Recent Survey Shows.

Pittsburgh.—One hundred and eighty thousand men are out of employment in the Pittsburgh district, "workshop of the world," embracing Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia, and the number is increasing almost daily, according to a survey of the industrial situation just completed here.

The daily wage loss is figured at $967,260.

The iron, steel and coal industries have been hardest hit, but in virtually all other lines—building trades, glass, chemicals, clothing, brick, cement, rubber and pottery—the effect of the nationwide "buying strike" has been paralyzing.

Franco-British reinforcements will be quartered in public buildings requisitioned in Stamboul, where already there are several thousand inter-allied forces.

It is considered that the troops are required to guard against threatened disorder, owing to the presence of followers of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, and bolshevik elements and the failure of the Turks to ratify the peace treaty. The latter situation is deemed a big factor in the allied decision.

RED CLOVER CAN BE SOWN EARLY

Many Farmers Plant as Early as February, Even While Snow
Is On Ground.

SEED SELECTION IMPORTANT

Plant Is Hardy and Not Injured by Ordinary Cold, and Sowing May Be Done While Other Farm Work
Is Comparatively Slack.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Red clover has been styled the corner stone of agriculture in the North Central and Eastern states.

Many farmers will begin laying the corner stone as early as February, when it is customary in many sections to sow red clover on the surface of the snow, so that it will sink into the soil with the first thaw in the spring. Red clover is hardy, and is not injured by ordinary cold; and the fact that it can be sown at a season when work on the farm is comparatively light adds to the economy of its cultivation.

The first important point to be observed is the selection of good seed, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Considerable care should be used in this respect well in advance of the time of seeding. This is particularly true at present, when a large proportion of the red clover seed used in the United States comes from abroad. If poor seed is used the expected crop may be a partial or total failure.

Good Seed Is Plump.

Good red clover seed is plump or well filled, bright with a slight luster, the color of individual seeds ranging from violet to light yellow. The individual seeds should be at least medium sized and fairly uniform, free of adulterants of any kind and from seeds of noxious weeds.

Home-grown seed is desirable, especially in the North, because it is almost certain to be adapted to local conditions. If it is not available, samples should be obtained from reliable dealers. These should be examined for adulterants, weed seeds and shriveled seeds. They should also be tested for germination before purchasing in quantity.

In the absence of more accurate methods an estimate should be made of the proportion of true red clover seed and of weed seeds and other impurities. From the red clover seed separated from all impurities, a counted number, as 100, should be taken just as they come. These seeds should be placed between layers of moistened cloth or paper or merely covered in a bed of sand or light soil. A dinner plate, covered with another, is a suitable germinating receptacle. It can be kept in the living room, at a temperature between 65 and 85 degrees. Between the third and sixth days the sprouting ability of the seeds should be shown.

It should be borne in mind that the sowing value of the seed is represented by the amount of true clover which will germinate with reasonable promptness. Thus, if four-fifths of a sample is pure clover, and only three-fourths will sprout, then only three-fifths, or 60 per cent, of the original seed as offered will grow. Thus, the germinating test has an important bearing on the worth of seed offered to the farmer.

Protects American Farmers.

A seed-testing service is maintained by the United States Department of Agriculture, where 29,638 samples of various seeds were examined and tested in the last fiscal year—16,442 in Washington and 13,196 in the five branch seed-testing stations. Similar service is offered by the various state experiment stations. The department also exercises a strict inspection service over field seeds brought from foreign countries, and last year 5,000,000 pounds of various seeds were rejected or held for cleaning before being allowed to be offered to American farmers.

It is important that the testing of seed be done early enough that a sufficient supply of pure seed can be purchased in time for use; and if seed is to be sent to one of the government or state testing laboratories, at least two weeks should be allowed.

WELL KNOWN AS MOSES' POOL

Is Believed to Be That Mentioned in the Bible in Connection With Great Law Giver.

In the Egyptian desert, about ten miles east of Suez, is situated a picturesque pool known as "Moses' Well." This is believed to be the well mentioned in the Bible, where Moses, at the bidding of the Lord, cast a branch into the bitter waters, and they were sweetened. Set in a deep grove of date-palms and pomegranate trees, the well is a dark, calm, mysterious looking pool, faithfully reflecting the palms which fringe its edges. The scene at sunrise, when the first rays strike the still water, is exquisite beyond description.

Attempts to identify various natural beauties and locations with mentions or descriptions as given in the Bible have always been difficult, owing to the fact that the records of the rulers of Egypt at the time of the captivity of the Jews were destroyed by rulers that came into power immediately afterward. The motive was jealousy, and a determination to wipe from the minds of the people any regrets for rulers gone.

FOLLOWED EXAMPLE OF HOST

Tactful Visitor Had No Desire to Be "Called," So He Duly "Sarsed" His Coffee.

The old magnate, Mike Murphy, who passed away not long ago, was fortunate in the fact that his sons inherited their father's consummate ability, says the Philadelphia Ledger. One of them, John, tells this story of a recent visit to a certain section of the country, where he was careful to do as the people did, and to conform with social usages as he found them.

At the table the venerable host poured coffee into a saucer. But the host's son drank it from a cup. That made the host angry. "Why don't you sars your coffee?" he belittled at the son.

"It's all right this way, father," answered the young man, mildly.

"Son, if your education is going to make you reflect on your father I want to know it. I tell you, sars your coffee!"

Whereupon the dutiful son emptied the cup in the saucer, and says Mr. Murphy, "I sarsed mine, too!"
